"Every teacher needs to improve. Not because they aren't good enough but because they can be even better."

Dylan William

Keep exploring is new digest of recent educational blogs.

Its aim is to provide 'food for thought' that will help you to continue to reflect, refine and improve your practice for the students you teach.

Keep exploring will be sent out a few times a term. If you'd like to contribute or suggest a blog post for the next issue please get in touch

Keep making a difference!
